

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a Federal law that governs the maintenance of student education records. Under that law, parents of students or students who are at least 18 years of age ("eligible students") have both the right to inspect education records kept by the school about the student and the right to correct inaccuracies in the record. Access to these records by persons other than the parents or the student is limited and generally requires prior consent by the parent or the student. The school has adopted a written policy governing all the rights of parents and students under FERPA.

The Taos Integrated School of the Arts (TISA) Governing Council hereby gives its annual public notice to all parents and eligible students that:

- TISA maintains the following education records directly related to students and subject to the limitations on disclosure provided in FERPA: Academic records, personal information records, disciplinary records, attendance records, health records, progress reports, and standardized testing records.
- Access to education records is limited to: parents of students under 18 and parents of students over 18, if such student is dependent as defined in the Internal Revenue Code, the student, officials of this school who have a legitimate education interest, federal, state, and local officials to whom information is required to be reported, certain test organizations, accrediting organizations, appropriate persons in connection with an emergency, pursuant to subpoena or court order, to any person, with the written consent of the parent or eligible student.
- TISA policy requires that education records be kept to an essential or relevant minimum. Records are reviewed at the end of each school year and non-essential and irrelevant material is deleted.
- TISA policy limits the right of access to education records to the persons and circumstances indicated in the second paragraph above. TISA requires that copies be made available to persons entitled to receive copies. TISA's policy provides that explanations and interpretations of records are available upon reasonable advance notice. Some records, such as standardized test scores and other material of a technical nature, may only be reviewed with a person qualified to interpret and explain such material and records. TISA's policy provides the right to request in writing an amendment of the student's educational records that the parent or eligible student believes are inaccurate or misleading. If records contain information on more than one student, the right to inspect relates only to that portion of the records concerning the particular student in question.

- FERPA classifies certain types of information that generally would not be considered to be an invasion of privacy or harmful if released as “student directory information.” Unless the parent or eligible student objects in writing as described below, school officials may release directory information, as defined under TISA policy, to any person, including but not limited to marketers, colleges, and the media, without the consent of the parents or the eligible student. Parents/students who object to the release of any or all of this information without consent must notify, in writing, to the director within fifteen (15) days following the date of the publication of this notice (or the enrollment of the student, if after the beginning of the school year). The objection must state what information the parent or student does not wish released. A form for filing an objection is available at the TISA office. In the absence of timely notice objecting to its release, the listed information will be classified as directory information until the beginning of the next school year. “Directory information” as defined includes: the student's name; grade in school; name of school; eligibility and participation in officially recognized activities, including but not limited to fine arts exhibits, performing arts programs, other performances, graduation programs and sports events; weight and height of members of athletic teams; honors and awards received; yearbooks; and identification in visual media, including photographs, videotapes and video images, depicting school programs or activities.
- Questions regarding education records shall be directed to the school’s director, the custodian of records. Complaints about the failure of TISA to comply with FERPA may be made in writing, to FERPA Office, Department of Health and Human Services, 330 Independence Avenue SW, Washington, DC 20201.
